

2005 EDITORS' CHOICE AWARDS

TABLET PC

Throw your clipboard and PDA into the Dumpster, Field2Base's wireless computer tablet and software may be the biggest breakthrough in jobsite communication and management since the cell phone. Finally, you can work with your company's documents and architect's CAD files, surf the Web, check e-mail, and even shoot and send marked-up digital images all in one device. The tablet is about the size of a legal pad and uses a stylus and handwriting-recognition software to put even the hardest-core, computer-averse superintendent at ease. Not only are you free from your office, you're also free from your truck, given the wireless capabilities that connect either through cell phone dial-up or a high-speed Internet WiFi box in your truck. Your project managers can communicate directly with subs, suppliers, engineers, and your home office, exchanging schedules, purchase orders, detail sketches, and field reports in the field. Documenting work in progress has never been easier or more accurate. ■ Field2Base, wireless computer tablet: Cost varies. 919-462-8500. www.field2base.com. Circle #209.

