

BuilderMT Continues Its Winning Streak With Another National Technology Award

Constructech Magazine Has Awarded BuilderMT's "Business Process Management" With a 2010 Top Product Award

Lakewood, Colorado — January 27, 2010 — BuilderMT, the nation's best-selling, most-award-winning home-builder software, today announced that it has won another technology award: Constructech has given a 2010 Top Product award to BuilderMT's Business Process Management software tool.

This 2010 Top Product award is another in a long string of awards that now exceeds two dozen. With this award, BuilderMT maintains its position as the most-award-winning home-building software company in North America.

The Top Product winners are selected by the Constructech editorial team, and according to a statement from the magazine, they are chosen for innovation and successful results in the marketplace: "These products are selected based on the product's description, the overall usefulness and uniqueness of the product to the construction industry, and the customer growth rate for the particular product throughout the past few years," the magazine said.

"As many times as we have won these awards, it never gets old and it's always an honor," said BuilderMT's Tom Gebes "For 2010 and beyond, we will continue to offer home builders the innovations they need to save money, optimize processes, and success in the housing turnaround."

About BuilderMT
